Users worry. JPG was the convenient way to send or exchange pictures when the Internet was operating in the age of dial-up. However, now with WiFi becoming quite common, JPG may not fit people who want to send high quality photos or images. Sharp lined images tend to remain slightly blurred when copied and sent multiple' times. JPG is not the compression of the idea to be used for the transfer of images and clear line typography. GIF and PNG GIF and PNG are the other two popular image compression formats in use. GIF as JPG A is an older methodology used and in use to compress and transfer images. GIF uses the 8-bit color file. It means that A is limited to a palette of 256 colors. GIF A is the best compression tool to use for grayscale images. SinceÀ© GIF uses 8-bit color file conversion, it can also distort images that can be radically altered. PNG stands for portable network graphics and supports both 8-bit and 24-bit RGB. Uses the LZW proprietary compression algorithm. A an excellent format for exchanging graphics on the Internet. However, the file size is not compressed as a JPG. JPG A is still the most popular compression tool used to save and exchange image files on the Internet.
